Great, looking forward to tomorrow's call.

I just googled the Stroud monitoring system and found this: https://digitalcommons.usu.edu/cgi/viewcontent.cgi?article=4623&context=cee_facpub

It's low cost (I think Stroud said it cost $200 to build it) and open-source, and they use it for monitoring, but it seems to me that CRW could play around with configuring the system so instead of monitoring they use it for water levels and when water reaches a certain level because of a wet weather event that would cause CSOs a light would blink. The very simple system Stroud created doesn't include a blinking light, but it doesn't seem hard to add. At $200/ea., it would cost less than $12K. Just a thought. We should probably run it by Tom. I'm cc'ing Steve.

Thanks, and hasta manana,
pl

No problem! The meeting went well. We focused only on the big-picture disputes that I had emailed around yesterday (see below). We still need to discuss sensitive areas and pollutants of concern, as well any outstanding topics from your discussion with Steve yesterday. We scheduled a follow-up call for tomorrow at 1pm.

Here are some big-picture takeaways from the meeting:

One question for you: during the call with CRW, I believe that you mentioned that EPA might have a list of low-tech solutions for the light-up signage system for public notification. I believe this was for the Straud Water matter. Do you happen to have access to that list?

Thanks,
Devon

Apologies for not making the meeting. I have a standing Clarksburg meeting now at 2p and it involves so many people and we basically recap all the efforts of the last week so I can't easily get out of it and my DRC wasn't going to be there today. I did have a pre-meeting with Steve to talk through some things. How did the meeting go?

Hi all,

Let's plan to meet this afternoon. I have spelled out some follow-up steps below based on my notes from our discussion with CRW last week. I'd like to make sure we have a plan for any follow-ups that are in our court. We had also initially planned to use this call to prepare for our technical discussion. We can do that this afternoon, and to the extent we need more time for a pre-meeting, I have already sent around a scheduler for a full team call on 9/13.

Thanks,
Devon

Devon – I know we had spoken last Monday about having a team meeting on 8/30 at 2 pm.

A. I believe you were going to send:

1. some notes ? possibly on the latest draft of the decree (that already had some of your notes) with additional notes that would document our 8/24/21 discussions with CRW; and
2. A list of next steps (to be sent to Fred Andes?).

B. Should we look for ## A 1 and 2 those in advance of tomorrow's call, and/or

C. Do you think we should cancel the call – I'm not sure what there is to discuss if we do not received ## A 1 and 2 above.

I hope this makes sense – thanks, Sushila
